A writer in the New York Times says:

The independence of the country is of more mportance than the personal freedom of any nan or men. This is a clear case of the great-er, including the less, for if our independence destroyed, what security remains for any nan's personal freedom?

When, therefore, the Copperheads talk of ictatorial powers, the answer should be, that if our-safety requires a dictator, we must and ought to have one. If they can show a thousand times over that the President has been revested with such powers by Congress, or has surped them himself, they have proved noth-ag, until they also show that there was no ecessity for these extreme measures. Should the increasing audacity of these men call for still further repressive measures; should it cause more of their organs to be suppressed and more of their leaders to follow in the

publican speech of his, that he adheres to the 447 feet, width 52 feet, draught 22 feet, with Union platform, is truly the best joke of the two propellers 17 feet in diameter, 8,000 horse

Then there is another capital joke, still better than this. The editor of the Journal proves that the laws of the State will be exe. cuted by Bramlette, if he be elected Governor, by quoting the Union platform; rather a reso lution of the Legislature, which the faithful pretended to adopt.

The Journal is a political humbugger of a quarter of a century's standing. The editor expects the people to take this in serious earnest, and that adds to the richness of the

These resolutions, be it observed, were never fairly adopted by the Convention. It is true the Convention so voted; but hear the explanation:

"The Hon. Z. Wheat, of the Committee on Resolutions, presented to the Convention the following resolutions, stating that while each and every resolution did not obtain the entire approval of each member of the Committee, yet they were the result of much deliberation, and the best that could be arrived at."

Mr. Benton protested against the first reso- that nation toward the United States, under lution, which approved the resolutions of the date of June 1, 1863, the following: Legislature; but the managers felt that there was no time to lose. It would not do to allow our Government and people are held in such high estimation as in Chili. In all my travels a discussion, and the mess was crowed of the table.

Now Mr. Bramlette makes speeches which drown out the whole platform, and writes a letter telling us gravely that he adheres to it. Nothing can be more antagonistic than these resolutions and Bramlette's speeches. The resolutions are mild enough and abstract enough; but they are thrown to the winds without mercy by Bramlette.

If a man had got up in the audience afte Bramlette's speech at Carlisle, and read the platform he professes to adhere to, every intelligent man in the audience would have laughed outright at the ridiculous incongruity of the

Go over the river and read the resolutions to a Democratic meeting, and they would be indorsed with only one proviso, that they are right, but not strong enough.

Read Bramlette's speech to a Republican meeting, and it would be cheered and applanded: whilst a man who would repeat the resolutions would be hustled out of the meeting as a Butternut, Copperhead and traitor.

Bramlette will get some votes from the fores of party habit from men who do not agree with him, and that do not see whither he is going. The fact is, Bramlette is Mr. Lincoln's District Attorney, Mr. Lincoln's Brigadier General, and Mr. Lincoln's candidate for Governor of Kentucky.

Next year some who will vote for Bramlette will be surprised to see him and his party his coach, was rewarded for his honesty by march up to the polls and vote for Abraham Lincoln for President another term. It is the road they are traveling and the end they will cometo.

We have seen these politicians dodging about before, going one road and swearing they are going another.

Those who supported Breckinridge in 1860 were not going into secession. It was an incredible slander to say so; but they were on the road that went nowhere else and wouldn't stop. So Bramlette & Co. are on the road to the Republican camp-the road goes nowhere else. They will be headed off, we believe; but if not, mark the prediction and compare it with events one year hence.

Ah. ves. say it out: "If slavery stands be tween me and my Government, let slavery go down." What can slavery have to do with the matter, if the Constitution and not some higher law is to be observed?

Toe whole subject of slavery is out of the power of the Federal Government, unless it be reached by one of those startling usurpations of pewer spoken of in the resolutions of the Legislature. Do these political jugglers mean to make another Union by the sword, and another Government altogether, from the one made by our fathers? There is no doubt that the Abolitionist seek to make this war an engine of revolution to change our whole system. That is not what we are fighting for. We must have the old system. No power but three-fourths of the States in convention can make another.

The dispatches to Richmond rather beat our dispatches in mendacity. As late as the 8th, the Richmond papers claimed that Lee had won a great victory-captured FORTY THOUSAND PRISONERS. That will do. We have not the details so as to see clearly how much Lee got the worst of the fight; but he left part of his wounded on the field, and had to take the back track. His victory must be one of Beauregard's equivalents of a brilliant victory-s successful retreat; and that forty thousand prisoners will dwindle down to four thousand or less. Wonder if there are not brokers or politicians at Richmond who have ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

LINCOLN.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: I am very glad to see you to-night. Yet I will not say I thank you for this call. But I do most sincerely thank Almighty God for the occasion of your call. How long ago is it? Eighty-odd year since, upon the Fourth day of July, for the first time in the world, a union body of representatives was assembled to declare, as a self-evident truth, that all men were created equal. That was the birthday of the United States of America. Since then the fourth day of July has had several very peculiar re cognitions.

The two most distinguished men who framed d supported that paper, including the par-cular declaration I have mentioned, Thomas ticular declaration I have mentioned, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, the one having framed it and the other sustained it most ably in debate, the only two of the fifty-five or fifty-six, who signed it. I believe, who were ever President of the United States, precisely fifty years after they put their hands to that paper it pleased the Almighty God to take away from this stage of action on the Fourth of July. This extraordinary coincidence we can understand to be a dispensation of the Almighty Ruler of Events. Another of our Presidents, five years afterwards, was called Presidents, five years afterwards, was called from this stage of existence on the same day of the month.

And now, on this Fourth of July just post, when a gigantic rebellion has risen in the and, precisely at the bottom of which is an effort to everthrow that principle that all men are created equal, we have a surrender of men are created equal, we have a surrender or one of the their most powerful positions and powerful armies forced upon them on that very day. [Cheers.] And I see in the suc-cession of battles in Pennsylvania, which continued three days, so rapidly following each other as to be justly called one great battle, fought on the first, second and third of July; on the fourth the enemies of the dec-uration that all men are created equal had to irn tail and run. [Cheers.] Gentle nen, this is a glorious theme and a lorious occasion for a speech, but I am not repared to make one worthy of the theme nd worthy of the occasion. I would like to peak in all praise that is due to the many brave efficers and soldiers who have fought a the cause of the Union and libertles of this country from the beginning of the war, not on occasions of success, but upon the more trying occasions of the want of success. I say I would like to speak in praise of these men, particularizing their deeds, but I am unprepared. I should dislike to mention the name of a single officer, lest in doing so I wrong some other one whose pame are now as the same of a single officer, lest in doing so I wrong some other one whose name may not occur to me. [Cheers.] Recent events bring up certain names, gallantly prominent, but I to not want to particularly name them at the expense of others who are as justly entitled to our gratitude as they. I therefore do not pon this occasion name a single man. And now I have said about as much as I bught to say in this impromptu manner, and f you please, I'll take the music.

SPEECH OF MR. SECRETARY SEWARD.

The multitude, headed by the band, then proceeded to the residence of the Sceretary of ate, who also, on being called out, delivered a brief address, substantially as follows: Mr. Seward thanked those who had thus called upon him for this popular demonstra-tion of their joy over the victory just an-nounced. He had considered it the part of a patriot and statesman, if possible, to avert the condition of public affilms we had lately wit-nessed, and, following the sublime ex-ample of Him who had died to save the world, he had prayed thes this hitter can world, he had prayed that this bitter cup of domestic dissension night be put away from our lips. The discord of our country was calculated to gladden the worst of despotisms, but the country would survive the shock it was called upon to endure. No federacy must stand or fall by the defense of nation can perish that has a spark of popular virtue left. The people are the guardians of the national titles and national greatness and sperity. No nation can be saved except by the sacrifice of individuals. In the language of the Scriptures, we must renounce ather, mother, brother-all for our country' lather, mother, brother—all for our country's sake; we must give up our treasures, our affections; we must make sacrifices—give up everything to be saved. For himself, he had surrendered all. There was not a child of his capable of bearing arms who had not been freely given to the service of the country. If he could not preserve our nationality he was here to be buried in its ruins, If he had to fall, he wanted to fall in the streets of the capital of his country, and be trampled under the heel of the assassins be trampled under the heel of the assa of its freedom and greatness. He had chosen for his file leader Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee. He was for this Union with slavery if it must be, and without slavery if he could have it so. [Cheering.] There is now a new issue. Away with the dead past. The future will develop who shall govern this great country. Neither wisdom nor virtue came into existence with this people. They will not die with the result of this contest. Presidencies, secretary sipps, foreign legations, presented no tempitations to him. He was ready to put hem all away from him. If his countriould be saved he should never accept officia osition at the hands of his countrymen. He and been censured for the prediction that the beellion would be ended in ninety days.

MULE MEAT—$1 per pound.

Rux-$40@100 per gall Clothing and every other article that a civilmight want to buy were priced at a rate absolutely starving. A gentleman told me that he paid $73 for a callco shirt he had n his back at the time, and that he had offer-These exorbitant prices were not solely due to the depreciation of the currency used, for up to the day of the surrender a dollar in gold silver was not worth more than four dollars Confederate money. Think for a moment buying flour at the rate of $1,000 per barrel, or $250 par barrel, paid in gold!

A MURDER FORETOLD IN A DREAM .- A Cleveland paper narrates the following story u connection with a recent murder case :

On the night of the atrocious triple murder of the Coy family in Medina, Ohio, a boy in the village "dreamed a dream," in which he distinctly saw the whole details of the horrible tragedy, the manner in which the murders were committed, the disposition of the con-tents of the room, and all the particulars of the affair. He also described minutely the appearance of the murderer.

So alarmed was he by the dream that he awoke in a fright, and narrated the vision to his father, who laughed at him, and paid no urther attention to the matter. In the morning, however, the whole village was alarmed by the discovery of the barbarous triple murder; and on examining the details they were found to correspond exactly with the The appearance of the murderer as described by the boy dream-er was similar to that of the man who was afterward reported as arrested, but who was not actually taken into custody.

BrownLow's Son .- A letter from Shelbyville, Tennessee, in the Mobile Advertiser,

The most daring and dashing of the cavalry leaders on the Yankee side in Middle Tennes-see, is Colonel Brownlow, son of the notorius and infamous old Parson Brownlow, of ons and linamous of raison browners, as great dandy and lady's man, and, like his lather, a gas-pipe or blow-hard of the most terrific description. His Lieutenant-Colonel is Andy Johnson's son—two nice young men for a small tea party, truly! Though company the property are regiment. Brownlow is nearly almanding a regiment, Brownlow is nearly always out at the head of small scouting parties, ways out at the head of small scouling parties, trying to ambuscade our boys, and leaving saucy messages in writing for them at houses on the neutral ground. Our Clarksville Letter.

CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE, ? MONDAY EVENING, July 13, 1863. Messrs Editors: We are now in the midst of peculiar weather. The air is dark and hazy, "If the Abolition and the sun appears but a red blotch in the sky. Occasionally we have a shower of rain, reigning supreme. The Cumberland river

Adjutant J. Rowan Boone returned this compelled to go the first heat with one shoe afternoon with a scout from beyond Port shoe off, and in the second heat lost the Royal and Fredonia. He, with fifty men, was 43. At the house of a man by the name of The fourth and fifth heats were won by Ed- Holmes, who is the leader of a small guerrilla ward Everett in 2:44, coming to the score an band, was found secreted in the loft thirty easy winner. On the sixth heat John Henry rifles and shotguns. He has had two hundred time, speaking hour about; and if he wants was withdrawn, and the race given to Edward in his possession, which were distributed to be absent, running my back track as here-Everett.

Confiscated.—A couple of merchants purchased a lot of groceries, &c., in this city, therefore, the confiscated by th dangerous a man as his brother, and has eluded the vigilance of several scouts sent on purpose to arrest him. All the prisoners are now confined in jall, and will have a speedy have been greatly misrepresented and slandered. Come one! Come all! sion here, and it is to be hoped that justice may be fully meted out to them. H. B.

WHAT IT COST .- A certaian young gentleman who lived in this part of the country, He moved down to Owensboro, where he became acquainted with an accomplished young lady, who made a secessionist of him, and afterwards made a husband of him. She died. ower, with a nice little fortune to throw away foolishly, no doubt. He concluded to take a trip to Europe to drown bis sorrow and his sentiments. He paid seventeen hundred dolin gold, and packed his trunk carefully with a family Bible, some papers, his clothes and all the gold, and started up the river en route for Europe. He was a passenger on the steamer McCombs, which boat was halled by Sam Taylor at Brandenburg, and ordered to "surrender," which she did. John Morgan went versed in regard to old times, and finally our hero told John that he had some gold, and as he was a "cousin" and a good Southern man, over his trunk to protect it.

were stationed as guards over the trank containing the gold. Our hero felt happy now. In the course of time John ordered that guard relieved, and it was-so was our hero. He went back to see how all was progressing. He found no guards on duty, his trunk torn open, his gold gone, his elothes turned inside out and the Bible opened with several leaves and festive cusses," who were looking on, dropped his hat and Bible, whisnered "Oh upon the cabin floor. He still lives.

There is rather an amusing story told about Lawrenceburg, Indiana. On Saturday they were rejoicing over the fall of Vickeburg, and the city was decorated with flags, scarcely a house but had one displayed. Suddenly the news came that Morgan was rapidly approaching. The flags mysteriously disprepared to make the best terms possible with posed to carry with him.

REBEL PRISONERS .- Large numbers of deat the headquarters in Nashville daily. They are ordered mostly to report themselves to head. quarters in this city, where a large portion, if not all of them, are allowed the privilige of taking the oath and being released. One hunordered mostly to report themselves to headdred and sixty-five arrived on the train from Nashville last evening, and thirty-five more from Bowlinggreen.

CAPTURE OF REBELS .- The following rebel prisoners were captured near Salvisa, Mercer county, Kentucky, a few days age and taken to Lexington : Wm E Kellar, Geo C Gordon, Christopher Chinn, jr., Robert Crouch, of the Second Kentucky (rebel) cavalry ; J M Roach, T M Bass and George L Beswick, of the Sixth Kentucky (rebel) cavalry.

A negro girl poisoned the family of Capt. Hughes in Nashville on Monday night, but fortunately medical attention was proalmost certain death.

The reason why John Morgan entered Indiana was because he was compelled to do so, and he knows very well that it would not be prudent for him to stop to rest or attempt to crawfish. He'll be caught.

DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMY.-It is stated that the Medical Director's Office show that since the war commenced 135,000 soldiers had been discharged from the army on a surgeon's certificate.

An exchange says: "Our Hoosier girls would like to be boys, in order to go to the wars." Our boys would like to be girls, on this side of the river, to avoid it. Quite a number of Morgan's men, who have either broken down or deserted, are prowling about in Hoosier. Maj. Gen. Roseerans and staff arrived in Nashville on Tuesday evening. The General looks well. "ALL QUIET!"-On all the railroads leading from this city the guerrillas are scarce.

Thanks to Mr. Nunemacher, of Adams Express, for St. Louis papers of yesterday. The Cumberland river is clear of guerrillas and snags now.

Williamsport, July 14.—I telegraphed you from Boonesboro this morning stat Gen. Lee was retreating, and would probably escape across the river.

Our army was under orders to move this morning at daylight. It moved only to find no enemy in front of it. I followed the advance down to this place, and a cleaner clearing out than the rebels have made could not be imagined.

The rebels commonced their retreat yesterterday morning. Their infantry crossed principally upon a pontoon bridge at Falling Waters; their wagous and artillery crossed at the fords here. The river is not so high as reported.

The alarm bells are ringing and the military are rapidly gathering.

It is reported that two men have been shot.

MIDNIOHT.—Everything is quiet now. The rioters have dispersed. No further outbreak is anticipated. Police and military are stationed in different parts of the city. In the attack on the armory one of the rioters was killed and another fatally wounded. An aged citizen, who resided on the street, and was looking on, was also k'iled. Several persons were wounded. A gun store in Dock square was broken open, but the police railied, and, by the use of their revolvers, quickly dispersed. Their horses are always fresh, and thus is accounted the celerity of their movements.

DESCRIPTION OF CUT.

TISDEL & NASH'S Patent Attachment FOR BURNING

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY COMBINED

PATENTED MARCH 21, 1863.

Thus Is an arriche which, on account of its utility. Simplicity and economy, has been very properly termed "the best thing of the kind ever invented." by the application of which to any common india lamp, you can born Kerosene or Coal Oil, without smoke or smell, while more light is obtained from a given quantity of Oil than with any other burner.
With one of these burners applied to any fluid lamp it may be moved ranidly about, or even carried out of doors, without the light being extinguished

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT.

A VILUABLE INVENTION.—One of the best, and at the same time, most simple contrivances for burning Kerosene (ii) in a common fluid lamp. It is so simple that any child can apply it, and it will burn Kerosene (ii) in any fluid lamp will hout even changing the wicking. It is one of the neatest things that has come under our notice, and it destined to become very popular with all who use it. It burns the (ii) perfectly, with no smoke, and will save many times its cost in a few months, and for portable or night than the cost in a few months, and for portable or night than the plan will save the plan and the cost in a few months, and for portable or night than the plan and the cost in a few months, and for portable or night them the plan will be the ne plus ultra.—[Synatuse Courier and Union.]

be the see play allow.—[Syracuse Courier and Union.]

[From the Scientific American.]

It accomplishes the object very perfectly, and dispenses with the anneyance and expense of the incorvement chimney. A free and steady Pith, without smoke, is obtained, when a good quality of oil is used. The invention cor sists in apply at the metalle burner, to the tube of the Lamp; the burner is simply sipped over this, and can be easily adjusted to any fluid lamp; thus equipped, coal oil can be burned in it as readily as fluid lamp; thus equipped, coal oil can be burned in it as readily as fluid. The burner should be allowed to proceed above the top of the tube a distance equal to the diameter of it, or about 2.5 of an inch; and the wings, composing the attachment, must be separated, so as to ellow the division to be last equal to the size of the tube. These lamps are very convenient for bousefuld purposes, as they or be carried in the hand in draughfa or currents of all without being extinguished.

"It is an adm rable invention, and effects the purpose in the simplest possible manner. These burners are coming into universal use."—[Rochester Daily Union.

Mr. J. D. Bondurant: The Eight-horse Steam Thresher and Cleaner bought of you, is given up by all to be the best in this county. I have threshed 300 bushels per day, and am well pleased with my machine.

J. B. WOOLFOLK.

Mr. J. D. Bondurant: Louisville, Kr.: The Garr's Improved Thresher and Separator bought of you last year performs well and gives satisfaction generally. Although it was late when we got our Machine, we threshed over (16,600) sixteen thousand bushe s without a break, accident or hindrance in any way. We threshed from 600 to 700 bushels per day, and have threshed 2 bushels per minute. We have no heritancy in saying that wherever introduced they will supersede all others.

Grain dealers do not object to the manner in which this Machine cleans the wheat. This they do with many other Machines.
